Joshua and The River Jordan

The mighty Jordan river was keeping the people of Israel from entering the promised land. Joshua told them that the time has come for them to separate themselves from the things that hold them back from God. He said, "Tomorrow God will do amazing wonders before your eyes". Joshua's plan was for the people to follow the priests carrying the Ark of the Covenant across the river.

On the next day, the priests were seen approaching the river with the ark. Unafraid, they stepped in. God performed an amazing miracle. He held back the raging waters so His people could cross. Once they crossed, God released the waters back into the river bed. To remember this great event, the people collected stones from the river bed and Joshua placed them in a pile.
